Films featuring an item numberQ: How to add some more fields to database I've seen that the normal way to add something to the database is to write php code and use something like mysql_query() I'm wondering if there's a way to do the same thing with Entity but not using the entity class directly. I'm working with Doctrine 2. Is there a way to add fields without writing code? A: Yes there is.
You use the 'Properties' section of the class definition to manually define them. For example, if you add a property to the Book entity definition: / * @var string *

@ORM\Column(name="title", type="string", length=256) * * @Groups({"books"}) / protected $title; The equivalent in DQL would be: SELECT book., book.title FROM Book book The Doctrine metadata is available in the class metadata We are writing to express our concern regarding the regulatory status of glyphosate and glyphosate-based herbicides (GBHs) under the Biopesticide Regulation (EU) 2019/865. On 24 October 2019, the European Chemicals Agency (ECHA) published a negative opinion on glyphosate and GBHs, concluding that glyphosate is “not genotoxic”. In its conclusions, ECHA also considered the many scientific studies that have been published in recent years and addressed the extensive scientific literature available in the scientific literature. However, the negative opinion is a surprising decision, as, in our opinion, the conclusions of ECHA are not supported 2d92ce491b
