If you're going to a show, or if you're going to a show and you're friends with someone who's going to a show, you probably want to see something a little different. We've listed some of the greatest Broadway musicals of the 21st century to make your trip to the Tonys a little more interesting. The book, music and lyrics are written by the talented duo of Harvey Fierstein and Daniel J. Travanti. The two have been writing these songs together since 1989. This musical tells the story of a young doctor who brings his 12-year-old son to the hospital with the hope of winning a book award. It is based on the life of Dr. Henry Holt, a famous father and a pediatrician. From the creative team that brought you such musicals as La Cage Aux Folles, The Wedding Singer and The Full Monty, comes a smart and sexy look at the changing social expectations of modern Americans. This is a show about the original gay rights movement, and how it has been misunderstood by everyone. The original score was written by Alan Menken and Jack Feldman. The music was performed by a band called The Pizzicato Five. One of the most popular tracks is The Oldest Living Boy in New York City. It was first performed in the 1997 New York City Marathon. The song is about the New York City Marathon, but it has a few other stories in it too. Rent has won three Tonys, for Best Musical, Best Score and Best Book. This musical about life in New York City in the 1980s won a Tony for Best Musical in 2002. It follows a group of artists and musicians in a small New York loft who are trying to find love and success. Rent originally played on Broadway and in other cities. Rent is being performed in Chicago, San Francisco and elsewhere. This is a sort of American musical version of Rent. The original score and lyrics are by Lynn Ahrens. 2d92ce491b
