The present invention relates to a method for manufacturing a surface acoustic wave filter used as a bandpass filter in a portable telephone apparatus or the like, a surface acoustic wave element used in this method, and a surface acoustic wave filter manufactured by this method. As a method for forming electrodes, for example, one disclosed in JP-A-2000-317368 is known. According to JP-A-2000-317368, a metal film is formed on the entire surface of a substrate, a resist is applied only to a region to form electrodes, and the resist is then heated in an oxygen atmosphere by the use of a resist baking apparatus. After that, the metal film is removed in the region not to form electrodes, and then the resist pattern is developed. Since the resist is heated in an oxygen atmosphere in the method disclosed in JP-A-2000-317368, an alkali component contained in the resist is lost and becomes a metal oxide, thereby a problem of peeling off of the resist due to alkali component attached to the surface of a metal film is dissolved. However, in this method, since the resist and the metal film are directly contacted with each other, there is a problem of generating gas which is attached to the resist and thereby reducing the resistance of the resist or making the resist ineffective due to the influence of the gas. It is an object of the present invention to provide a method for manufacturing a surface acoustic wave filter having good characteristics, a surface acoustic wave element which is manufactured by the method, and a surface acoustic wave filter manufactured by the method. In order to achieve the above object, according to the present invention, a method for manufacturing a surface acoustic wave filter includes the steps of forming a metal film on a surface of a piezoelectric substrate, patterning the
